

FREIGHT SHIPPING CALENDAR

Your Guide to the Best and Worst Freight Rate Days of 2026

The freight market ebbs and flows annually, monthly, and even daily. These seasonal patterns impact your shipping rates: the more drivers are available to haul your freight, the less you'll pay.

By using our Freight Shipping Calendar to plan your shipments accordingly, you can save money all year long.

Here are some general rules of thumb to help you in 2026 and beyond:

Mondays & Tuesdays:

Mondays and Tuesdays are often the best days pick-ups. Schedule them for the afternoon for better rates.

Wednesdays & Thursdays:

Wednesdays and Thursdays are a hit or miss, depending on distance. <800 miles is the sweet spot.

Approaching the Weekend:

More miles = better rates.

Fridays:

Always more expensive for shipments traveling <600 miles.

Major holidays:

More drivers at home + more traffic = more expensive to ship.
